PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Jonah Frohlich is a managing director of Manatt Health Solutions, an interdisciplinary policy and business advisory practice of Manatt, Phelps & Phillips, LLP. He provides policy and regulatory advice to a wide array of healthcare organizations and other stakeholders, with a particular focus on overseeing health information technology initiatives.

Prior to joining Manatt Health Solutions, Jonah was the deputy secretary of health information technology at the California Health & Human Services Agency. In this role, he served as the administration's top executive and advisor on health information technology and data exchange. Jonah was responsible for coordinating the state's $1.5 billion initiative for the development, application and use of electronic health records and secure information exchange, and for facilitating policy, statutory and regulatory changes needed to advance health information exchange.

Jonah was previously a senior program officer with the California HealthCare Foundation, where he managed standards development to support state and national electronic health information exchanges. He also served as a manager for reporting & analysis with Brown & Toland Medical Group, where he supervised the department responsible for the collection, analysis and reporting of clinical, quality, financial and utilization data for the 1,500-physician medical group.
